Item 8.01 Other Events

On December 7, 2023, five Medicare Administrative Contractors (“MACs”), National Government Services, WPS Government Health Administrators, Palmetto GBA, Celerian Group Company, and Noridian Healthcare Solutions, each updated their respective future effective local coverage determinations (“LCDs”) on Micro-Invasive Glaucoma Surgery to delay the effective date of these LCDs from December 24, 2023 to January 29, 2024.

As previously disclosed, the LCDs each identify certain procedures as investigational in patients over the age of 18 for glaucoma management, including canaloplasty in combination with trabeculotomy ab interno which is a procedural description associated with Sight Sciences, Inc.’s (the “Company”) OMNI® Surgical System (“OMNI”).

Each LCD lists goniotomy as a covered procedure with certain coverage limitations. The Company is still assessing each LCD’s goniotomy coverage determinations and their potential impact on continued or discontinued coverage for its SION™ Surgical Instrument technology.

If the LCDs become effective in their current form, the procedures identified in the LCDs as investigational would be noncovered for Medicare beneficiaries in the states administered by these five MACs. The states served by these five MACs accounted for an aggregate of approximately 63% of the Company’s Surgical Glaucoma revenue in 2022.

The Company strongly disagrees with each LCD’s characterization of adult canaloplasty in combination with trabeculotomy ab interno, a procedural description associated with the OMNI technology, as investigational and is pursuing all remediation possibilities to maintain or reinstate coverage. The Company’s continuing efforts include concerted engagement with each MAC, the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services, and clinical societies, as well as sharing clinical data supporting the long-term safety and efficacy of OMNI with these entities, to maintain or reinstate coverage for procedures performed with the OMNI technology. However, if the LCDs become effective in their current form, the Company intends to promptly initiate an LCD reconsideration request process with each MAC, in addition to taking such other measures as it may deem necessary or advisable.
